The Sentiment
of the People.

Shall Reno remain a village, or become a city? That is the question that is agitating our people. The JOURNAL will endeavor to crystallize and record public opinion. Yesterday a reporter took a census along the west side of Virginia street, between Commercial Row and Second street. Only propietors of business houses were interviewed. Some were out, and some were too busy to talk, but of those who could be interviewed, the majority, as will be seen, are heartily in favor of reincorporation.

In favor—Otto Herz, R. Herz, W.
Oarter, J. K. Seaman, O. Ratledge, Will Merklinger, James Merklinger, Sol Levy, J. L. Simpson, W. J. Lynch, H. Oohn, M. Frank.

Opposed—S. J. Hodgkinson, John Sunderland, Matt Parrott.

Non-committal or indifferent.—S.
Jacobs, A. W. Fox, George Sauer, Jas.
Carroll, S. Emrich.

Professional Card.

Dr. J. A. Hamilton's professional card appears in this issue of the JOUR-NAL. He has been a member of the Indiana State Medical Association, in affiliation with the American Medical Association, since 1877, although admitted to practice some years earlier.
He can be found day and night at his office and residence over the Co-op. store.

At the Cyclery.

The Reno foot cyclery was well patronized last night. The innovation of reserving the upper floor during the afternoons for ladies and their escorts to practice on is greatly appreciated by the beginners. Manager Hammond has arranged for a musical program this evening.

Miss Douglass Elected.

Miss Lillian Douglass of this city, who has been teaching for the past two years in the eastern part of Nevada, and who is a former student of the Reno high school and graduate of the State Normal school, was yesterday chosen to teach in place of Miss Margaret Hymers, resigned.

A Jostling Legislator.

Senator Charles Green of White Pine replied to Allen Bragg's request for information as to how he will vote on the lottery bill: "A good deal depends on the length of that $200,000 sack." How mean it would be to nickname the the Senator "Long Green."

The public schools will reopen Monday, after the Thanksgiving holidays.

KITCHENER VS. WEYLER.

A dispatch to the JOURNAL yesterday morning states that Lord Kitchener has taken supreme command in the Transvaal, which means that the Boers are to be crushed without regard to rules of civilized war, if it be true as reported concerning the cruel methods of Kitchener toward Boer non-combatants.

It is claimed that the course of Weyler in Cuba, when he was in command in that island, did not equal the inhuman ways of Kitchener, which was unlooked for by a civilized world from her christian majesty's soldiers. These reports came from sources which should receive credence from christian people everywhere.

The Boer is a more stubborn foe than Great Britain had expected he would be, and disappointment has descended to the work of desperation, which is no new thing when disappointed ambition secures a controlling influence over the mind. There is no cruelty imputed to Lord Roberts, who has conducted the war in a civilized manner, as recognized by the rules of war, which shows that civilization and humanity may have a place in the heart of a British soldier in Africa, but the work of Kitchener is condemned as inhuman and brutal.

The destruction of private property and the maltreatment of women and children who were in distress are among the verified charges against Kitchener. When this man was ordered to the Transvaal his record in the Sudan followed him, and it was then said that he was a ruthless and brutal soldier who would not regard private rights or protect the innocent and helpless against the brutality of his soldiers, which has been confirmed by the course of the man since he has been in South Africa.

When civilized men descend to massacre men and women under any circumstances it is time the world should take some action, which will bring that kind of work to a close. These are matters that will be submitted to some of the governments of Europe. Some of them have now been given to the world for its consideration. There are in South Africa about one million and a half of white people, and about one hundred thousand of these people are the friends of England. There is more discontent at the Cape at this time as a result of brutal savagery by British soldiers than at any time since the beginning of the war, which may cause a general uprising by the people in the country who sympathize with the Boers, or who are in favor of civilized methods in war. The people in the United States are not in a position to throw a stone while they live in glass houses. Kitchener's tactics will be copied and applied to the Philippines to bring them to a realizing sense of the obligation they are under to submit to superior force, or to the will of commercialism, without regard to the rules of civilization as practiced in civilized war.

It has become an offense against might for the weak to insist with their lives upon what they deem to be their rights when might has determined otherwise. These practices may succeed for a time, but they will come to plague the nation that uses them to its disadvantage, and it may be to its ruin. Force is the chief weapon of commercialism, and cruelty is the beginning and end of its argument. Kindness is beyond the compass of its reasoning, and humanity is not mentioned in any law in its code. Its measures are blind to all that is human and its deeds are bathed in blood.

Such is its history when using power and such will continue to be its record when it controls and directs. It occupies its true position when under the domination of law and is subject to the will of the people, but when its desire becomes a law unto itself, as is the case when it controls government, there is no end to its ambition or to its means of its cruelty.

IT MAY BE, OR IT MAY NOT BE.

There are some intimations respecting the matter that will be discussed in a special number of the JOURNAL tomorrow. It is claimed that the President will call in Congress to provide the means for its destruction, which will be very good if the President is to do so, but it may be he has not admitted his master's role in just and is aware of its value, and may be the means of getting to good wishes and intentions of the man.

There is no question about President McKinley's good intentions when he is not made subject to pressures, but when force is applied to the President his resistance is not to be relied on by the country or by his friends. Anything he may say about the canal will have to be received with many allowances in favor of a change of sentiment before Congress adjourns.

Thanks to the generosity of the Reno public, in so liberally patronizing the horse company's ball Thanksgiving night, the boys inform the JOURNAL that they have enough left out of the proceeds to furnish each member with a uniform of the most up-to-date firefighting pattern to be had. They will then be fully equipped, with the exception of a horse for the horse cart, to handle a fire without running the risk of ruining their clothes.

Grand Jury Report.

The grand jury reported that they had inspected the county buildings. They found that the jail was overcrowded, and recommends that the county commissioners arrange to have the sheriff's office and jail separate from the courthouse, and utilize this space from some of the county offices, that have not now sufficient room. It was recommended that the roof of the jail be repainted and the plumbing of the jail be made more sanitary.

The Next Attraction.

A. J. Waterhouse, poet and humorist, will be the next attraction in the Star lecture course. He will be here on the evening of December 18th. Mr. Waterhouse's verses in the Examiner and in Eastern publications have made him famous. Prof. Gray is to be congratulated on securing to the people of Reno such an excellent array of entertainers. We bespeak for the remainder of the course a liberal patronage.

The Ice Crop.

The past few nights ice has been forming on the ponds up the river. Dave Dyess was in town yesterday. He says that the supply of congealed water is shorter at this season than ever before, not over 4,000 tons being stored up the river. All indications are that the biggest ice crop in the history of the industry will be harvested this season.

has startled the world by its marvelous

The First Gold Found in Nevada.

Charles Orr of the Secretary of State's office, Sacramento, was in Reno yesterday. Pendant to his watch chain was a charm which to old Comstockers on the street would have attracted considerable interest had they seen it and the history of the trinket been explained to them.

Encreled by a plain gold band was a nugget weighing probably an ounce.
Its intrinsic value is but a trifle over $3, because of the predominance of silver. The nugget was picked up in a gulch below the Comstock lode on June 1, 1850. It was found by John Orr and a man named Prouse, who were two of a party of emigrants on their way to California.

A butcher knife was the only mining tool they possessed, and the nugget was dug out of a slit in the rocks of the canyon. Considerable search was made, but fine gold was all that rewarded the efforts of the emigrants.

Next day they moved on toward California, but not without christening the spot where the nugget was discovered Gold Gulch. Silver City now occupies the spot where the first gold in Nevada was discovered, and from there to Dayton the gulch has since been torn up time and again by gold seekers who have been well rewarded for their efforts.

The nugget is not for sale, nor will it be donated to a museum. It will pass from son to son as an heirloom in the Orr family.

New Management at the Palm.

Robert J. Earleton, the well-known aeronaut, has returned to Reno and has taken possession of the Palm saloon, formerly conducted by M. A.
Ballard. Prof. Earleton has assumed all the indebtedness of the place. It will hereafter be conducted in a manner above criticism. If any one reports loss of money or is maltreated in the house Mr. Earleton will himself prosecute the offender.

This evening a restaurant will be opened in the building. Meals will be served at all hours. Good music and efficient service will be the motto of the house under the new management.

Prof. Earleton is deserving of a share of the public patronage and he will get it.

A Surprise Party.

Last evening a surprise was tendered Mrs. William Pinniger by the Women's Guild of this city. About thirty were present and the evening passed off very pleasantly. Mrs. Pinniger was presented with a handsome token of regard on this, the eve of her departure for the east. The token consisted of silver table ware and toilet articles. The speech of presentation was made by Rev. S. Unsworth.

lished a reputation in this city for fair

They Will Give A Matinee.

The Boston Concert Co. gave so much satisfaction here last Friday evening that a number of people have requested a repetition of the concert.

To accommodate these and the people generally, including University students and public school pupils, the company has been secured for a matinee, Wednesday next, beginning at 3 p. m. The company has a lay over here going west from Carson that day, and hence this opportunity.

There will be an entire change of program, but the same pure-toned beautiful singing by Miss Roddy, the same highly amusing recitation and dialect rendering by Miss Dorell, the same wonderful violin playing by Mr.
Walther—all these on fresh lines, in new places will be heard.

The prices for this entertainment will be popular—25 cents and 15 cents.
A large house should greet the company on that occasion.

A Sparkling Comedy.

There is every assurance of a festival of fun in the production of "A Bell Boy," the attraction which Manager Piper offers to the patrons of McKis-sick's opera house on next Wednesday night.

This piece is an ensemble of comic situations, funny sayings, good music, and refined comedy. During the performance there will be introduced a budget of the latest most popular features.

There will be plenty of pretty girls, whose costumes are said to be very elaborate. The cast includes a number of farceurs who will undoubtedly give an enjoyable performance.

Chicken Dinner.

The Golden Eagle hotel will serve its usual excellent Sunday dinner today. Chicken is on the bill of fare.
Only twenty-five cents.

A Temporary Vacancy.

Mrs. Booth has been absent from her classes in the public schools for the past ten days on account of the very serious illness of her sister in California. She is expected to assume her duties Monday. During Mrs. Booth's absence, Mrs. A. W. Cahlan, a graduate of the Reno public schools, has had charge of her classes.

Sanitary Subways.

There are eleven miles of sewers in Reno. The town board has just completed a 16 inch line across the river.
The sewer is 2,500 feet long. No attempt has yet been made to sewer surface water.
